

Interact/ Conflicts St. Michael's Holistic Natural Health Center can deny service or sale of any product to any person for any reason or if a staff member determines that such service/product may interact or conflict with one's medical treatment. This policy is to protect an individual from harm that may result from such interaction or conflict.

St. Michael's Holistic Natural health Center practices the purest form of traditional natural healing. A person may be denied service or product, and/or program terminated if such person is participating in different approaches with different product, support and/or philosophy. Here at St. Michael's Holistic Natural Health Center, we utilize a traditional comprehensive holistic approach. Many new age practitioners, chiropractors, integrative naturopaths, and other integrative practitioners practice some form of natural healing, but different approaches may conflict with each other. This can be hazardous to one's well-being.

Our facility will deny any product(s) which a staff member feels can cause an interaction with one's drugs, over the counter drugs, and/or medical condition.

Once a client is established, if he/she decides to leave our program, he/she can re-enter at some point. Please be reminded that first time clients, and those who are dedicated to our program gets first priority. Once an appointment becomes available, and our staff is confident the client is not utilizing multiple programs, the client will be scheduled. If it has been longer than one year since the client's last visit, the client must start from the beginning with another orientation and the associated fees.
